Walking the path of Christ with love and service through a Catholic Education.

Class Notes...

We have learned quite a bit this week! Tsunamis, tornadoes, how blubber keeps animals warm, reading, collecting data.....and so much more!

We have several caterpillars in our classroom that we are watching as they turn into Painted Lady Butterflies. They are exciting to watch.

Please continue to read with your child. We will be reading again with the kindergarteners next week. All practice will make better readers! Our small groups in reading are starting to read longer stories or chapter books. It is wonderful to see the growth that has occurred over the year.

A few schoolwide notes:
